Estate Planning

REMEMBER TERRY HOME WHEN PLANNING YOUR ESTATE

There are many ways that donations can be made to Terry Home. One of those ways is when you do your estate planning. Please keep us in mind when writing your Wills and Last Wishes. Here are just a few stories of those who remembered Terry Home and how we acknowledged those gifts.

A love story of 65 years, benefits Terry Home

Ira and Muriel Quint were both originally from the East Coast but moved out to the Pacific Northwest over 20 years ago to be closer to their grandchildren. They were married for 65 years before Ira passed away suddenly while vacationing in China. Muriel passed just a few years after.

Their great passions included music, reading, theater, films, literature, art, travel and each other. Separately, Ira pursued his love of bridge (both playing and teaching), tennis, pickleball, and fine wines. Muriel pursued her love of learning through continuous classes in all subject matters, as well as her love of swimming, water aerobics (especially the camaraderie of her pool pals), writing and fine chocolates.

Ira met Eugene Montgomery (Terry's uncle) on the tennis courts and Muriel met him in their memoir writing class. Their daughter, April, says, "Her parents were great admirers of the Montgomery's and tried to support Terry Home whenever possible. We felt it was important and a great honor to our parents' wishes and passions to offer Terry Home some of their much beloved treasures they had accumulated over a lifetime of adventure and romance together." So it was through this connection of tennis and memoir writing that Terry Home benefited by the gifts of these two wonderful people.

Thank you to the Quint family for honoring your parents' wishes to give back to Terry Home. We appreciate everything that was donated to us and were honored to be remembered.

The Schooley Family Wing in Auburn

Many contributions and support over the years by the Schooley family made it possible for us to name a wing in their honor.

We were quite surprised when Terry's Aunt Dora and Uncle Arlon Norman passed away to find out they had left a large portion of their estate to Terry Home. A fountain was installed at our Auburn home which honors them. This memorial helped to pay for the landscaping and patio at our Auburn facility.

When the first president of our Terry Home Board of Directors, Cec Wilson, and the founder of Terry Home, Mary Norman, passed away, we thought it was only fitting to honor them in some way. A dogwood tree was planted at each location and these engraved rocks were placed by each tree.

Meet Terry Home's Residents: Pacific Home

Thank you for your Terry Home support, which helps residents to thrive in a secure, comfortable home environment. We hope you enjoy their stories.

The Best Person to Meet When You Need Your Spirits Lifted

I had the great privilege of meeting Nolen for the first time at Pacific. Unsure of what to expect, I was instantly greeted with a warm smile and a continual stream of funny jokes. Nolen wasted little time getting to know me and made me feel like we were old friends just catching up.

Nolen was born in Chicago and moved to Oklahoma when he was two years old. In elementary school he was a good student and enjoyed playing basketball and soccer. While in high school, Nolen played varsity soccer, pole vault and track. After high school, Nolen worked various jobs and lived in Bellingham for one year.

On April 1, 2016, Nolen had a motorbike accident which caused a severe brain injury. He was in a coma for one month and spent three months in the hospital rehabbing. As a result of this accident, Nolen has amnesia and short term memory loss.

What Nolen enjoys most about Terry Home is the staff. He has a list of quirky names for people and feels like he is part of a larger family. My time with Nolen was well spent, after sharing many laughs with Nolen, I left our visit that day with a pep in my step and greater appreciation for the human spirit.

Celebrating You!

As the season of generosity approaches, Terry Home would like to thank all those who help make Terry Home a great place to live for young people who are survivors of Traumatic Brain Injuries. Your kindness helps to provide many essentials, including much-needed housing for young adults who desire to live at Terry Home but don't have the means to do so, caregivers, therapy, and resident activities. We celebrate all those recognized below for making a huge difference at Terry Home.
