Consider Terry Home when Estate Planning

25 Years of Terry Home Show and Shine

Terry Home's 25th Annual Show and Shine in August was a big success, bringing together many faithful supporters and classic vehicle enthusiasts. The event featured 120 registered vehicles that gleamed in the sun at Pacific Park, and many spectators came to view the impressive array of classic cars, trucks, motorcycles and more. Drivers were also enthused by the opportunity to celebrate a quarter of a century of successful Terry Home car shows with a kick-off cruise through Pacific, where the Show and Shine was held. The event raised $9,000 thanks to our supporters and sponsors for the event.

A big thank you to all who have supported this fundraiser, which has helped to ensure Terry Home can continue to provide excellent care to its residents. We have planned for some time that the 2017 Show and Shine would be our last in its current format; however, we are considering two scenarios for 2018. Stay tuned for more details in the next newsletter or on our website at www.terryhomeinc.org.

Terry Home President Myla Montgomery shares her thoughts about the Show and Shine's transition: "This was an emotional year for all of us. In some respects, we were happy that this was our last car show and, in other respects, sad because this was our last one. We've come a long way from our first Show in 1993 when it was held at the Auburn Eagles Parking lot and there were so many years where we lucked out with unpredictable May weather. We kept saying that it never rained on car show weekend—and then it did. But our faithful supporters still came with their beautiful vehicles—wiping them off in between the rain. We can't thank all of you enough for all the support over those 25 years."

We can't thank all of you enough for all the support over those 25 years. "

Come Join us for Food and Fun—March 3, 2018

Last year, Terry Home's "Continuing the Hope Luau" dinner and auction whisked enthusiastic guests to the shores of Hawaii—at least in their imaginations. As it turned out, the evening couldn't have been any more fun if it had been held at Waikiki. It was a night to remember with fabulous food, brisk bidding, and plenty of laughter.

On March 3, 2018, in the Auburn Community Center at Les Gove Park, Terry Home is building on that night of feasting, fun, and festive bidding with its auction to benefit Terry Home's young people who are survivors of Traumatic Brain Injury. Emmy award winner from KOMO-TV, Keith Eldridge, will be our evening's auctioneer.

Come for the fun and food. Come for the bargains. But most of all come to help ensure Terry Home's residents have the opportunities they deserve to thrive.

Details on "There's Hope Inside" Dinner/Auction can be found on our website at www.terryhomeinc.org. If you want to make sure you receive an invitation, visit our website and join our mailing list mentioning that you would like an invitation.

Meet Terry Home's Residents: Auburn Home

Thank you for your Terry Home support, which helps residents to thrive in a secure, comfortable home environment. We hope you enjoy their stories.

Where Vision and Hope Prevail

Aaron has every reason to be melancholy, yet he refuses to give into self-pity. "If you look at my medical history, it's a book," the Terry Home resident says with an infectious smile.

Faced with a brain tumor at just 5 years old, Aaron had the tumor removed when he was 7. The surgery was successful but triggered relentless seizures that lasted more than two decades. Although some were controlled with medicine, on occasion Aaron still fell victim to Grand Mal seizures.

At 28, his doctor told Aaron that he was unlikely to survive the Grand Mal seizures beyond 30. So more surgery followed to remove the parts of his brain that triggered the seizures. Once Aaron recovered, he was moved into a nursing home and then a family home. Finally, in 2014, the 33-year-old found a new residence that's a good fit for his needs—Terry Home.

"Terry home is for survivors of Traumatic Brain Injuries, so this is better for me," Aaron said. He also likes the fact that Terry Home is quiet at night compared to the other homes he's lived in.

Despite his left leg limp, a left hand that isn't entirely functional, and a left arm that doesn't fully extend, Aaron's focus remains on the future. The 37-year-old has set goals that include financial independence, getting married and raising a family. "Pretty much the American Dream," he says with a laugh.

Terry Home gives Aaron the resources and independence he needs to achieve his goals. Aaron is thankful to have access to Terry Home's exercise equipment, especially the mat table. This is where Aaron stretches his muscles to keep them flexible and strong. He also works out at a local gym three to four times a week, a passion that allows Aaron to maintain his muscular physique.

Since 2013, Aaron has further demonstrated his independence by working part-time for Auntie Anne's Pretzels in Auburn's Outlet Collection Mall, handing out samples and coupons to shoppers. Now he's searching for a full-time job so he can get on with fulfilling his dreams.

"It's been quite a journey," Aaron said. "The way I look at it, I can mope in my room or go after my goals. Moping does no good."

And there's one thing this resolute young man wants everyone to know.

"I'm not going to retire here," he said of Terry Home. "I have too many plans for my future."

For residents like Aaron, this determination is just what Terry Home staff want to hear.

Aaron exercises daily at Terry Home and many times a week at a local gym.

Celebrating You!

As the season of generosity approaches, Terry Home would like to thank all those who help make Terry Home a great place to live for young people who are survivors of Traumatic Brain Injuries. Your kindness helps to provide many essentials, including much-needed housing for young adults who desire to live at Terry Home but don't have the means to do so, caregivers, therapy, and resident activities. We celebrate all those recognized below for making a huge difference at Terry Home.
